

Mideast Crisis Overshadows Final Week of 1956 Political Campaigns

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Middle East crisis overshadowed pocketbook issues and domestic affairs in the final week of the 1956 political campaign.

Already confident of victory in the presidential election, Republicans believed it would win more votes for President Eisenhower because the country would want a man with his stature and military background to deal with the threat of war.

Democrats, who have been hungry for more effective issues, viewed the crisis as an issue which would stir public interest and sustain their arguments that the administration had bungled foreign policy.

Because of the Middle East fighting, President Eisenhower cancelled one campaign trip set for this week and called off one tentatively scheduled to Boston on Monday night, the eve of the election.

Before the outbreak, he flew to Florida and Virginia for speeches Monday, and he kept a speaking date Thursday night at Philadelphia. His cancelled trip would have taken him to Texas, Oklahoma and Tennessee Wednesday.

On his southern swing, the President spoke in general terms of the racial issue without getting specific about the question of school segregation. He said the achievement of racial equality should be handled mostly on a state and local basis.

In a TELEVISION address billed as non-political Wednesday night, Mr. Eisenhower criticized the action taken by the British, French and Israeli in the Middle East and pledged there would be no U.S. involvement in hostilities.

In his Philadelphia speech, he voiced confidence that the U.S. alliance with Britain and France would grow stronger, despite the current disagreement. And he promised that his own actions and decisions in the crisis would be taken as president of all the people, not as a candidate.

IN A JAB at the Democrats, Mr. Eisenhower said he was "undisturbed by the strident voices of those few who seem to be seeking to turn world events to political profit."

At Philadelphia and in his southern tour, he continued to hammer against the proposals of Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson for seeking an end to H-bomb tests and the draft. He called these proposals a "design for disaster."

And in the South, Mr. Eisenhower boasted of the administration record of prosperity and chided the Democrats for suggesting that this prosperity is less than it appears.

VICE PRESIDENT Richard M. Nixon concentrated this week on pivotal states, first in California, then New York and Pennsylvania. He accused Stevenson of a "crude attempt" to inject politics into the Middle East situation and said Mr. Eisenhower can provide the leadership needed in time of crisis.

In Hershey, Pa., Nixon Friday night accused Stevenson of making "untrue" and "irresponsible" charges in his attacks on the administration's Mideast policies. He said Stevenson is unfit to be president.

Next week: Both Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon will make election eve TV appearances Monday night. Nixon spends Monday in Boston and speaks from there. The President will be in Washington.

DEMOCRATS
Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson gave most of his attention this week to big eastern and midwestern states — New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Massachusetts.

Throughout the week he flailed the administration for developments in the Middle East. He said the administration had told the American people less than the truth, that it had committed blunders contributing to the crisis and had alienated the principal U.S. allies, Britain and France.

"GET OUT THE VOTE" under the sponsorship of the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce got a lift during a recent visit here by United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, right, who congratulated the organization on their bumper strip drive. The stickers, which read "See You At The Polls" are currently being distributed by the local JayCees as part of a national program. Others in the photo are Nick Mutacio and Jean Bishop, co-chairmen of the drive, and Bill Bronstein, president of the Palm Springs club. (Desert Sun Photo)

Elks Here Plan Get Out the Vote Drive Tuesday

The Elks will conduct a city-wide drive to get out the vote on Nov. 6, Pat Cohen, Exalted Ruler of Palm Springs Lodge, announced today. Plans for the Elks' "Get Out the Vote" Campaign, which will canvass every neighborhood during the closing days of the election, were adopted at a meeting of the Lodge Thursday night.

Exalted Ruler Cohen said that the campaign, being conducted by the Elks throughout the nation, in cooperation with the American Heritage Foundation, will pay special attention to encouraging young people to exercise their right of franchise.

"Our goal is to get every eligible voter in this community to the polls on election day," Cohen stated. "We are especially interested in getting those first voters to the polls, so they will form the voting habit at an early age."

Of each individual Elk, I ask that you solicit the cooperation of your relatives, friends and associates, and that you make it your personal business to get them to the polls. By so doing, we will guarantee that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Heading the Elks "get out the vote drive" committee, is Bill Scharf.

KPAL Plans Full Election Returns

One of the most extensive independent radio networks ever assembled will bring the 1956 general election coverage on Nov. 6 into area homes via Radio Station KPAL.

KPAL has completed arrangements to cover the national, regional and local races through a network affiliation with stations at Riverside (KPPO); Indio (KREO); Blythe (KYOR); and Brawley (KROP); all of the California Network.

The broadcast will start at 7 p.m. and continue until all returns have been conclusively established.

Atomic Dividend

PIERRE, S. D. — South Dakota has realized its first dividends from the atomic age. The school and public lands department has received a check for $87.15, the first royalty ever received by the state for the mining of uranium ores from school land.

Budapest Girl Tells How She Joined Rebels to Avenge Slain Brother

BUDAPEST, (AP) — A young Hungarian girl who swore vengeance against the Russians over the body of her 11-year-old brother said today such cold blooded murders would make the nationalists fight to the death against Soviet domination.

There were no tears in the eyes of 19-year-old Juliana Sponga as she told her story simply. Juliana was twice wounded in the bloody fighting at the Kilian Barracks which first drove the Russians from the capital.

Her face was lined with the fatigue of eight days of fighting. On her right cheek was a bandage and she moved with difficulty because of a machine gun wound in her right shoulder.

JULIANA, STILL wearing a thickly padded Hungarian army uniform, said she joined the other workers in a walkout when the revolt started.

"That afternoon, the Soviet came, one tank after another, and started shooting . . . when I went home my mother told me my 11-year-old brother had been killed by a Soviet tank. They shot him on purpose — it was no accident," she said.

"After I finished crying, I promised I would avenge him," she said.

JULIANA SAID she joined rebels who already had disarmed some police and soldiers and then marched on to the Kilian Barracks.

"I had a banjo Russian machine-gun and some hand grenades which we got from the soldiers. With me were a girl of 17 and two boys of 18 or 19."

She said Russian armored cars came up and some of the "children went down and threw grenades in them." The rebels returned with boxes of "Molotov cocktails" — bottles filled with gasoline.

JULIANA SAID she was shot through the cheek Thursday and taken to a hospital but returned to the barracks that same night.

"I think I killed at least four Soviet soldiers, but it may have been more or less," she said. "Everyone was shooting all the time."

The season's worst blizzard howled through the West and left at least two persons dead and many stranded on snow blanketed roads.

Although the storm began to diminish in force in Colorado and Wyoming, more snow and wind raced through skies over the northeastern section of Wyoming.

Highway crews and communications workers labored throughout the early morning in freezing temperatures to repair damage done by the raging winds and to clear the roads of snow.

ONE OF THESE men, James Lee Belcher was electrocuted near Lamar, Colo., while working on a power line.

A search party found 8-year-old Jerry Seveland of Merriman, Neb., almost seven hours after he had become separated from his brother in the swirling snow.

A SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb., radio station said that they had compiled a list of 25 persons whose relatives had reported them missing. Other points in the snow-bound area reported many residents missing.

Ike Wires New Endorsement to Jackie Cochran

Jacqueline Cochran Odium, candidate to represent the 29th District of Imperial and Riverside counties in the U.S. Congress, this week received in a telegram the "unqualified endorsement" of President Eisenhower himself in her congressional campaign pointing to the Nov. 6 general election.

The President also expressed his gratitude for the "splendid work" Mrs. Odium and her friends were doing in his behalf in the 29th District.

In the telegram sent to Mrs. Odium from the White House, President Eisenhower said:

"My attention has been called to the splendid work you and your friends are doing in the 29th District of California. For your efforts in my behalf I am, of course, most grateful, but I am concerned about your own victory. Next year, the Congress and the Executive Branch must work wholeheartedly together. And I want you elected to the 85th Congress because I know you will give your considered support to the programs this Administration recommends."

"On Nov. 6, I hope the voters of your district will make your victory decisive. Then you will contribute to the organization of the next House of Representatives and help make cooperation between the two branches of government more effective and productive. You have my unqualified endorsement and my best wishes for this fitting climax to your extraordinary service to the nation. Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Badge and Clark Moorten received recognition for Farm Mechanics and Swimming.

From Troop 31, Jimmy Crann and Leonard Hammer both advanced to Second Class and received Merit Badges in Indian Lore.

Lloyd Simon awarded three Bibles for outstanding achievement as Scouts to Hilton McCabe, Troop 29; Jimmy Crann, Troop 31, and Francisco Rodriguez, Troop 118.

The Attendance Ribbon was awarded to Troop 39, and the Advancement Ribbon went to Troop 118.

The Court was closed by Bob Toronto leading the Scout's benediction.

Psychoanalyst Turns 'Peepers' Into 'Holiday'

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD — It was more than seven years with a psychoanalyst, says Wally Cox, that changed him in real life from a Mr. Peepers type to more of a Hiram Holiday type.
Wally on television always has appeared so meek that the question of what he really is like is an intriguing one. This season he's discarded the old Mr. Peepers look and seems headed for another re-sounding success on NBC with his "Adventures of Hiram Holiday."
Hiram is an owlish proofreader who turns out to be one of the smartest, strongest men alive, a fellow who handles lions, cobras and assorted villains.

THE REAL WALLY gives the impression he has become a man of decision and action, but, he confesses, he was not always that way.
"I went seven years to an analyst in New York," he explained in his soft voice. "I used to be a slovenly silversmith. Oh, I was so lazy."
"I learned to assert myself. There is a difference between assertiveness and cruelty. I used to confuse the two. If you continually bow down before force you find yourself at a disadvantage in all important areas in life. Why, even in social life you can let somebody bully you into coming to dinner."

NOW WALLY is happily married and a successful TV star. In real life there still are some peepish touches to Wally, however. When we met for lunch he wanted to eat by the swimming pool of a small hotel so he wouldn't have to face the celebrities and autograph hounds in the Brown Derby across the street. For lunch, Wally ordered hot consomme, tea and vanilla ice cream.
But when a large bumble bee attacked the table and let the consomme get cold while he gently wooed the bee away. He advised against striking the insect, and quoted scientific publications for his decision.

"I hear America Singing, the varied carols I hear, Those of mechanics . . . The carpenter . . . The mason . . . The boatman . . . The shoemaker . . . The wood-cutter . . . The ploughboy . . ." These phrases from Walt Whitman's beautiful poem "I Hear America Singing," take us back 100 years . . . And how did we look in the years around 1855.
As this scribe sees it we were beginning to look pretty good . . . As a nation we were mighty young . . . But the sinews of youth were beginning to strengthen, and the muscles of maturity were beginning to ripple across the broad expanse of the rapidly growing body of America . . . But what was the source of this growing strength? . . . What was this vitamin that gave vigor to the people of that day?
Take it from every angle and I'm sure we would come up with the same answer . . . Each individual, every single American, had a voice in the government . . . The power of the vote was fairly new; people were just beginning to realize its power and importance . . . But it was there; and the knowledge that the ability and privilege and right to vote and have a voice in the present functioning and future growth of their nation was there, gave the massive stimulant that imbued the body politic of young America—1855.
And through the growing pains, trials and tribulations, and vicissitudes of 100 years, we have continued to hold that right—the inalienable right to vote, to have a voice in the government . . . As American we can say, rightfully, "Our government" . . . But we cannot say it unless we exercise our right to vote.
The Palm Springs Real Estate Board has only one message to members and laymen alike . . . GET OUT AND VOTE . . . This is your chance to sing . . . Sound your voice in the government . . . Let the voting voice of America be heard around the world . . . Become a part of the mighty Voice of America . . . Get Off Your Patio and Vote . . . Tuesday Nov. 6.

Democrats Given Best Chance Of Taking State Senate Since 1887

SACRAMENTO — Democrats have high hopes this November of capturing control of the state Senate for the first time in modern California political history.

Even if they don't attain an actual majority in the election Nov. 6, Democrats are aiming to come out of the balloting with at least a 20-20 standoff with Republicans in the upper house.

Not since 1887 have the Democrats controlled the Senate. But recent election trends show a clear but Democratic gain.

For example, back in March 1953 the Senate lineup was 20 Republicans and only 11 Democrats. But in a series of special elections in the last three years, Democrats have gained ground to the point that the party split was only 22-18 in the March session.

ONLY 20 OF THE Senate's 40 seats are at stake this year and 11 of them were settled in the June primary.

The way the Senate lineup now stands, with election day next week is this:

Republicans, 14.

Democrats, 17.

Seats to be settled Nov. 6, 9. Barring an unexpected reversal of form and voting trends, most party leaders are willing to agree that Republicans are odds-on to capture five of the nine contested seats with Democrats conceded two.

That leaves two seats claimed by both parties where the outcome will determine whether Republicans retain control by a slim one-vote margin, whether it is a stand-off or whether Democrats finally take over.

THESE DISTRICTS are the 39th in Imperial County and 11th in Napa-Solano counties.

The 39th has been exclusive Republican property throughout the 12-year tenure of Ben Hulse, wealthy El Centro rancher. But Hulse, now president pro tem of the Senate and one of its most influential members, is retiring at the expiration of his current term.

Seeking his seat are Republican J. Ward Casey of Brawley, currently an assemblyman, and John William Bill Beard, El Centro attorney.

Republicans admit the going is tough for Casey, especially in the face of latest registration figures for the county which show the Democrats with 14,027 potential votes and Republicans with only 8,376.

THE OTHER DISTRICT where Democrats claim they have the best chance to score an upset is in the 11th. The present incumbent who is running reelection is 75-year-old Nathan F. Coombs (R-Napa), a member of the Senate since 1948. His opponent is Donald A. Mitchell, West Sacramento trucking company executive who two years ago was unsuccessful in an effort to defeat Paul Leake for the Board of Equalization.

In most quarters, Republican incumbents Donald A. Grunsky Santa Cruz-San Benito, A. A. Erhart, San Luis Obispo; John A. Murdy, Orange; and Nelson A. Dilworth, Riverside, are conceded an edge in November as is Richard J. Dolwig in San Mateo County.

Democratic incumbents George Miller, Jr., Contra Costa, and John J. Hollister, Santa Barbara, are rated good bets for reelection too. So the 11th and 39th districts may well decide control of the Senate.

Denies Report Dulles Will Quit

WASHINGTON, — A White House spokesman said today he does not expect any Cabinet changes after the election.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made the statement in denying that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may resign.

Hagerty was asked about a statement attributed to Sen. George H. Bender R-Ohio, in Cleveland that he had heard Dulles intended to resign.

Don Miller, temporary chairman of the local council; Lorraine Miller, Edith Fry, Nellie Coffman Parent's Guild; Esther Weingarten, Soroptimists; Dixie Bren, Cahulla PT-A; and standing, Ted Land, Rotary Club; Chuck La Frautz, St. Theresa's School; George Bond, Palm Springs Unified School District; Robert Young,

Romantic Symbols of Saudi Arabia Disappearing, Oil Dollars Responsible

EDITOR'S NOTE: The vast desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia is the least known to Westerners of all the Middle East nations. U.P. correspondent Kazi Salama of the Cairo bureau has just completed one of the few tours there permitted newsmen. In the following dispatch he reports on the revolution in social and economic life under way.

By KAZI SALAMA
United Press Staff Correspondent
DJEEDDAH, Saudi Arabia, — The nomadic Bedouin and the camel, the two romantic symbols of storybook Arabia, are fast disappearing.

In their place has come a modern trio—the car, the airplane and the air conditioners.

King Saud, with the vast profits from Saudi Arabia's fabulous oil resources, is transforming this ancient kingdom to modernity in the most far-reaching revolution in Arabia's history since Mohammed proclaimed Islam.

The late King Ibn Saud, father of the present monarch, carved the Saudi Arabian kingdom with his sword and spent the rest of his life protecting and safeguarding what he had won.

HIS SON, THOUGH an absolute monarch, has brought new horizons to the land aimed at parliamentary government and a modernizing of the social and economic system without dropping time-honored traditions or weakening the Islamic religion.

The most important move has been the campaign to hold stationary the Nomadic tribesmen. King Saud has decided the roaming desert life yields a subnormal standard of living in an age of relative plenty. It is a primitive way to earn a living compared with industry and agriculture.

It deprives the Bedouin of government services in health, education and social care. Furthermore, nomadic life conflicts with the exercise of central governmental control.

TO KEEP THE Bedouin still, Saud is giving each tribesman $60 a month, the chiefs more. With this subsidy from oil revenues, the Bedouin does not have to herd his sheep and goats to far pastures. In return, he must keep the peace. In case of a crime, a whole tribe faces imprisonment until the culprit is produced.

Saud is setting up community centers in the desert with a hospital, school, a mosque and one or more artesian wells. The government is pushing a state housing program to keep families at home.

Long, asphalted roads criss-cross the peninsula and over them pass the new speedboats of the desert, the automobiles. They are late American models, brilliantly colored in several hues.

The car has even made a small chink in the social wall between women and men other than their family. It has become a common sight for an Arabian woman to speed past in a car, the breeze giving a saucy life to her veil.

BUT THE AIRPLANE has been, perhaps, the most powerful instrument in transforming Arabia. A land of great distances, once traversed in months of camel-back journeys, it now can be crossed in a few hours. Forty airports and landing strips have been built, knitting the land into one nation.

Air conditioning has brought changes in indoor life, both at the office and home. It has made clerical work bearable in terrible heat. In the past few years air conditioners have been installed in most government offices, commercial establishments, homes of the wealthier and in the better hotels.

King Saud has taken big steps in education. In a resort town on the Red Sea shore at the northern tip of Djeddah, he has converted 10 former royal palaces into a "city of science."

SOME 900 BOYS study and play in the pillared halls and marble corridors. They are admitted on the basis of their early school records and all expenses are borne by the state. Saud hopes it will be a model for future education centers.

His one determination to stick with the past is in perpetuating Mohammedism. He has ordered that religion should be a basic course in school. He has encouraged the pilgrimages to Mecca and built one of the greatest mosques on earth round the prophet Mohammed's tomb in Medina. In his personal life, his daily prayers are recitals from the Koran, he sets an example.

Hawkins' Family Thanks Citizens

In a letter to the Editor of this newspaper, Eva Hawkins, wife of Ed Hawkins, expressed the thanks of her sons and herself to the people of this community who have done so much for them since her husband's death late last month.

In her note she said, "There is more kindness than ever spoken. We have learned it is true here in Palm Springs in the past three weeks. Citizens from all stations of life, directly and indirectly in many, many ways, have been so-litigious of our welfare and have bolstered our morale. We could never thank them all, or thank them enough. Very Sincerely, Eva Hawkins, Rickey and Ned."

Bill Rashall's Unedited last week reported that the Junior Chamber of Commerce had completely renovated their laundry on South Palm Canyon, a business started by her husband, and the operation of which will be continued by her.

Susie Suzuki Goes Modern In Dress, Hair

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO —American GI's returning to Japan wouldn't recognize Susie Suzuki.

She's cut her hair like Audrey Hepburn, exchanged her kimono for Western dress and is free to pick her own husband.

Susie Shirue is the modern Japanese woman — ultra-modern for Japan.

She has broken so rapidly with the past and won so much freedom and opportunity since the Pacific war that some of her Japanese sisters are warning her:

"Take it easy, Susie."

"There's nothing wrong with being modern," says Miss Kikuko Sasaki, chief stewardess of Japan Air Lines. "It's wonderful, and I'm glad Japanese women have more freedom now."

"BUT WE MUST keep the tea ceremony and the flower arrangement. We mustn't abandon the traditions that give Japanese women special grace and charm."

Miss Kikuko wears smartly-tailored clothes but no hats. She doesn't paint her fingernails on grounds that natural beauty is better. She prefers a short coiffure with ducktail effect to the Hepburn hairdo which is the craze in Japan.

THE GAY KIMONO still has an important place in Japan—but only at parties, festivals and weddings. Shop and office girls earning about $30 a month find an $80 kimono too expensive. They dress Western style.

Miss Sasaki is among the favored few women employees. Airlines stewardesses take home about $70 a month. Professional models who become cover girls earn $14 a day and sometimes $250 a day.

Even the geisha—the teahouse entertainer—is tending to go modern. Her classical songs and dances and her high beflowered hairdo remain as popular as ever. But she can do a hot mambo if required.

Men's Club Plan Rehash Nov. 7 of Election Results

A discussion of the election results will be an interesting feature at the regular meeting of the Men's Club of the Jewish Community Center, 332 West Alejo Road Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

An attempt to analyze the results will be made by Herbert Hass, speaking as a Democrat, and by Saul Ruskin from the Republican point of view.

Other highlights of the program as planned by Bob Morris, program chairman, will be a current events review by Howard Brezin, and a musical presentation. On the program will be violinist Stanley Spiegelman, accompanied by Manny Strand.

Refreshments and a social hour will follow. All men interested are invited to attend. Further information is available at 5262.

INDIANS ON WARPATH, SCALP HEMET 33-14

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

NEW YORK, (AP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The no-windup technique which Don Larsen used to pitch his perfect World Series game is spreading faster than a prairie fire, the breeze having been fanned by Bob Turley's success when he adopted it on the sixth game of the classic. On the heels of Larsen's no-hit gem, Turley lost a 10-inning 1-0 heartbreaker — but it undeniably was his best effort of the entire season. Using the Larsen lunge, Turley went all the way in the Series after a season in which he pitched only five complete games.

SO ALREADY the no-windup fad is in full swing. Several pitchers are trying it in the winter leagues; Tom Morgan, Larsen's teammate, used it to strike out three batters in a recent three-inning stint at Los Angeles and Tom Poholsky of the Cardinals claims he's "going to give it a shot" during spring training. He'll have lots of company.

Jim Lee Howell is keeping his fingers crossed and maintaining a decorous silence over the league-leading play of his New York football Giants of the National League. "The only thing I can say," he grins, "is that it's nice to be on our side."

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers are concerned about Don Newcombe's sore arm but they see a silver lining in the pitching department. The three big reasons are the brilliant Japanese showing of Fred Kipp, the Montreal knuckleballer; 20-year-old Sandy Koufax' superb performances in Puerto Rico, where his last effort was a one-hit shutout; and the return of 1955 World Series hero Johnny Podres. Pore l'il ole Bud Wilkinson. His Oklahoma football team is a four-touchdown favorite against Colorado today but Bud just don't believe it.

As Oklahoma shoots for its 36th consecutive victory with a team regarded by all the experts as the best in the nation, Wilkinson said dolefully in his weekly football letter to the alumni:

"This week we will be in exactly the same position Michigan State faced last week against Illinois. Michigan State was upset 20-13."

"I hope we rise to the gravity of the situation and that we will be able to play to the full limit of our ability," Wilkinson wrote.

Rosi Seeks Boradman As Next Opponent

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Paoli Rosi, fresh from an eight-round technical knockout over favored Henry Toothpick Brown of Philadelphia, said today he wants second-ranked lightweight Larry Boradman as his next opponent.

The 28-year-old Italian said a victory over Boradman would give him the national recognition he needs in this country. "I am nothing now," he added.

S.F. Seeks Upset Against Detroit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Upset minded San Francisco, with rookie quarterback Earl Morrill in the starting slot for the second consecutive week, takes on undefeated Detroit in the feature game of the National Football League Sunday.

With several new members on the roster, the Forty Niners hope to better their good showing of two weeks ago when they dropped a 20-17 heartbreaker to the Lions in the final minute of play.

Included among the new faces, all veteran pros picked up on waivers from other NFL clubs, are Bob Holladay, a defensive back; Stan Sheriff, big linebacker from Cal Poly and the Pittsburgh Steelers, and more recently the Army, and Tom McCormick, former Los Angeles Rams offensive star and a member of the all-time College of Pacific team.

None of the trio, two of whom joined the Forty Niners only two days ago, are expected to see too much service on the Kezar green Sunday. However, Forty Niner Coach Frankie Albert said all will probably see action on a spot basis.

Vines Pushed Back to 2nd in Pomona Open

Ellsworth Vines of Tamarisk Country Club, idle yesterday in the Pomona Valley Golf Open at Los Serranos Country Club at Chino, was in second place as play started in the final two rounds of the 54-hole tournament this morning.

Half of the field played Thursday and the remainder Friday. High scorers were eliminated as the reduced field went into the final two rounds today.

VINES TOPPED the tourney on the first day with a sparkling five-under-par 67. But Friday three touring pros, Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Texas, former amateur champion, George Bigham of Kansas City and Dick Knight of Omaha, all shooting in the same foursome, wound up with identical 66s, six under par to take the lead.

Eighteen holes are on the agenda today with the final 18 tomorrow.

GENE LITTLER, who did not play Thursday, had trouble on the tricky Los Serranos Course and wound up with a 34-37-71.

Dr. Frank M. (Bud) Taylor, many times winner of local amateur tournaments, also was bracketed in the 71 class with a 35-36.

Bears Favored by 8 Over Rams Tomorrow

By UNITED PRESS
The Detroit Lions, Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants—the National Football League's three first-place teams — are favored to remain there by winning Sunday.

The Chicago Bears, one game behind Detroit in the Western race, are eight-point choices to defeat the Rams at Los Angeles and the Green Bay Packers are 7½-point favorites over the Cleveland Browns at Milwaukee.

Russian Athletes, Melbourne-Bound, Lost in Red Cloud

MELBOURNE, Australia, (AP) — Russia's Olympic athletes disappeared today behind a "red cloud" extending from Rangoon to the Indian Ocean.

Even while the 16,000-ton Soviet Olympic ship Gruzia remained unreported in waters off the southwest coast of Australia, a spokesman for Pan American Airways revealed that the jet airliner transporting the main contingent of Red athletes to Rangoon "is now overdue."

At the same time, a Sydney newspaper reported that a visit of 67 Russian tourists to the Olympics had been cancelled without explanation. The Sydney Daily Mirror said the Sydney travel organization has received an official notification from Moscow.

In still another late development, Hungarian distance runner Sandor Iharos announced on Budapest radio that he has "withdrawn from the games because of an old injury." He said he would act as a radio commentator in Budapest during the games.

Australian port authorities and Olympic officials said they believed the Russians were deliberately "behind schedule" because of the international situation in Hungary and the Middle East.

Olympic Squad to Take Off Sunday

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Most of the more than 300 members of the U.S. Olympic team were given a farewell salute today when they paraded at Memorial Coliseum during halftime of the UCLA-Stanford football game.

The Olympians, who took part in last night's UCLA homecoming celebration, paraded at the Coliseum in their official travel uniforms.

Indians Display Smashing Offense to Overpower Hemet In RCL Thriller by 33 to 14

By LINDSAY NIELSON

As the Indians zoomed past Hemet 33-14 they suddenly realized that once again they were in sound league standing. Last night on the local grid, Coach Ballagh's Redmen dipped the pigskin in scoring territory five times, proving that they weren't really lacking a good offensive team, but in previous encounters, lacked the very necessary teamwork required to make it click. This makes three consecutive years the Indians have blasted Hemet out of a victory.

Fumbles played a major part last night as they accounted for three touchdowns. In all, there was a total of nine fumbles during the game.

THE ACTION was exciting all through the game, especially in the first half. In the primary stanza, the local lads drew first blood when they recovered a man handled Hemet ball on the Bulldog 7. Big John Cunningham dove over into the end zone and Dave Lance added the bonus point to make it 7-0.

In the second quarter, Bill Rader of the Bulldogs flashed a speedy broken-field 17-yard goal line dash, the kick was good and it was all tied up 7-7. Later in the period, Gene Prieto, snagged a Bulldog punt and darted through the entire Hemet squad for a 55-yard punt return, touchdown dash. The extra point was good and the score read 14-7.

The first contingent will depart by plane tomorrow for the Olympic Games to be held in Melbourne, Australia.

Hal Connolly of the Boston Athletic Club broke the world's record for the hammer throw during Olympic team practice Friday with a heave of 224 feet, 10½ inches.

His throw was more than the accepted world's mark of 211 feet, 8½ inches set in 1955 by Mikhail Krivososov, of Russia.

tra point failed and it was then 13-7.

HEMET SOON RETALIATED by scoring from the Warrior one, after recovering an Indian fumble. The tally jumped to 14-13 as the conversion was good. But the quarter wasn't over yet.

Dave Lance once again displayed his agility after a fast 18-yard splurge. Dick Casey bowled his way over for the extra point and the first half ended, 19-14.

A TRIBUTE must be given to John Cunningham for the terrific job of blocking he did. Many times he smacked the crucial block and cleared the way for the ball carrier. In the third canto, Dale Johnson dashed the eight yards that separated him from another P.S. tally on a brilliant end around run for still another Indian TD. Cunningham did the clean up and the score read 27-14.

Then with three minutes remaining in the contest, Cunningham knocked the last man between Lance and the goal line out of the way and Lance dashed eight yards for the final in-jun tally. The conversion failed and the score read 33-14. And that's the way it ended.

Perris is the next school on the Palm Springs agenda, but now it seems that the big game will be Beaumont, two weeks from now.

Art Center Tea Opens Exhibit At Old Adobe

Around 800 members and friends attended the Desert Art Center tea Thursday afternoon and viewed the paintings that were on exhibit in the Old Adobe on the Village Green.

The Old Adobe, which is being used as the Art Center gallery, makes a perfect setting for the first exhibit of the fall season, which included 50 paintings by local artists. The exhibit will be on display until November 14 and is open to the public without charge.

The tea, which was timed to coincide with National Art Week, was under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Paul Siman and Sophie Sturtevant, with Mrs. Austin McManus and Mrs. Noble Banks presiding at the tea table.

Hospital Auxiliary Inaugurates Tribute Fund for Contributions

The Women's Auxiliary of the Desert Hospital has inaugurated its Tribute Fund, a channel for accepting monetary gifts.

The Tribute Fund was originated by Mrs. John Kenaston and is under her chairmanship. Donations to the Hospital Auxiliary may be mailed to Drawer F, Palm Springs, specifying who is to be notified of the donation. Cards have been printed in three classifications, "in honor of," "in celebration of" and "in memory of," and the appropriate card will be named to the person designated by the contributor.

Mrs. Charles Farrell, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, said today that other forms of contributions may be made by purchasing honorary memberships at $100 each.

Organized only last year, the Auxiliary is affiliated with the American Hospital Association. It's work is entirely volunteer and non-profit.

Junior High Parents to Go to School

Thursday evening, November 3, will be "Back to School" night at Nellie N. Coffman Junior High, with parents invited to arrive at 7 p.m. and follow a typical day's schedule of their children. A modified program of 10 minutes is planned in each classroom.

When the classes dismiss, a bake sale, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Barbara Gilligan and Mrs. Helen Berta, will be held in the school library, and refreshments will be served at a nominal charge. Mrs. Helen Morris, president of the Parent-Guild, stressed today that all parents with children in Junior High are invited to attend and get better acquainted with the school facilities and with the faculty members.

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Micheal Kannon, of the Ideal Trailer Court, are announcing the engagement of their daughter Beverly Joan to Steve Granger. The two plan to be married at St. Louis Church in Cathedral City, on December 2.

Beverly Joan, who graduated from Palm Springs High School in June, is the business manager of the newly-formed Desert Skating Club at Radio Road and Indian Avenue. Granger is better known in Palm Springs as Bozo the clown. The young couple will make their home in Cathedral City.

Jewels Called Aid to Beauty

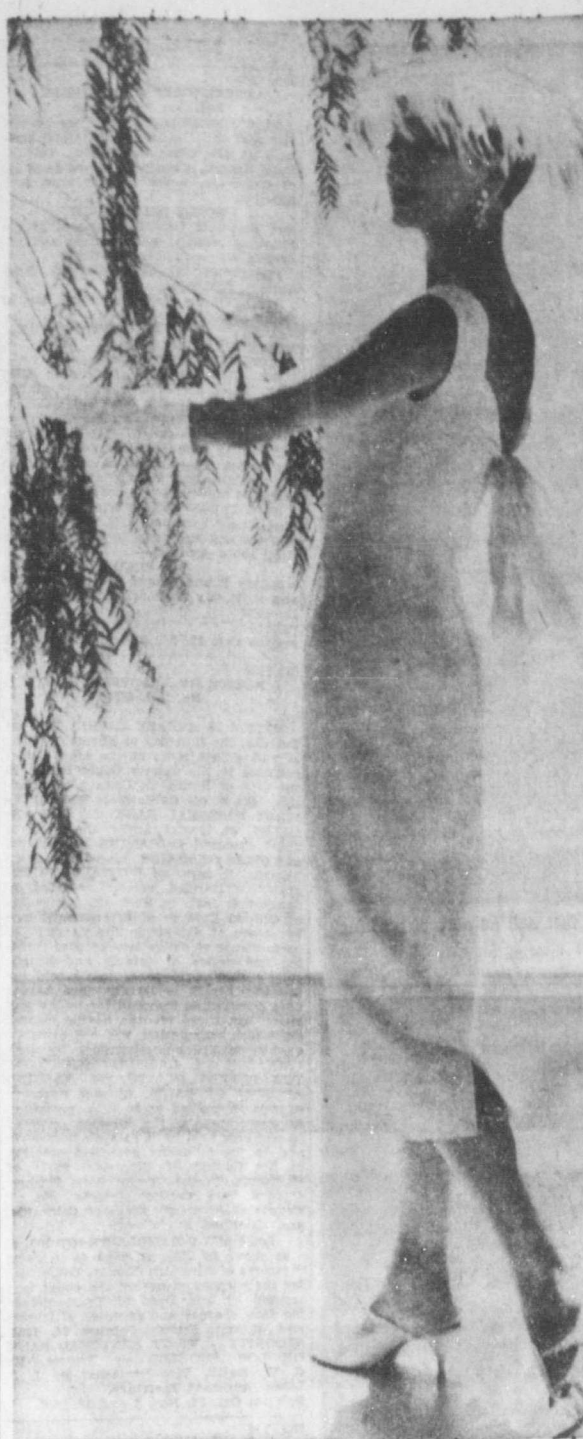

An award-winning jewelry designer says women who want to be beautiful should meet the traditional "girl's best friend."

But, advised Marianne Ostier, if a girl can't afford diamonds, she still can boost her beauty rating with any other good piece of jewelry.

"It will do more than the best of make-up to improve your looks," she said.

Mrs. Ostier is the first woman to win the "Diamonds U. S. A." award three years in a row.

Mrs. Ostier has devoted her career to making jewelry that will add to a woman's beauty instead of just to her social standing. She believes that being a woman makes her better qualified as a jewelry designer because she knows what other women want.

PRETTY THINGS happen to a lady, when Tabak of California introduces such a great new beauty this season! Here he has taken the finest jersey, lining it completely with crepe. Lowering the back, adding a waft of pure silk chiffon to tie in the back and front, adding slashes to the back hemline, in a gown that is sheer feminine beauty. The colors are lady-like, too, in spice pink, primrose yellow, sea-foam aqua and peach. The Tabak gowns are an exclusive at J. W. Robinson.

Teen Agers Date Early: Go Steady

CHICAGO — Members of the bicycle and algebra set are stepping out socially more than did their dads and moms. And in some communities a few 12-year-olds are "going steady", a United Press survey shows.

But for pre-and early teens at least, "going steady" isn't a national pastime, their teachers reported.

Most junior high school principals and counselors reported they have seen no increase in "steady" dating among their charges. They refused to be alarmed by an observation by Juvenile Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland, O., that dating in the junior high crowd has developed into a "dangerous fad" of "going steady."

Views Differ
"Too many girls only 12 years old are going steady," Woldman told a parent-Teacher Association group. "It's a dangerous fad and parents should discourage it."

Woldman said one 12-year-old girl told him: "If a girl's not going steady, the other girls make her feel like she was an old maid."

But Miss Valerie Chase, principal of Langley Junior High School in Washington, D. C., said she "hasn't noticed" any tendency of 12 to 14-year-olds to single out a special boy friend.

"Going steady," she said, laughing. "They shy away from it."

Miss Aurelia Davis, director of counseling in the Atlanta, Ga., counselors there have noted a decrease in the number "going steady" in the junior high age groups.

At Milwaukee, Phillip Geil, principal of Peckham Junior High School, said "14-year-old girls are not interested in boys that age in their own schools, and if they are going steady we don't know it at school."

Principal Stephen Vrsata of Milwaukee's Roosevelt Junior High, said:

"Sure, some do, but they don't know a definition of it."

The Girl's Idea

Several counselors across the country agreed that dating is common among 12-year-olds and the lower teens.

A Philadelphia Board of Education spokesman said "there's more dating than previously" in schools where social programs are sponsored by school and parent groups. "This is also true in communities where agencies offer wider opportunities for boy-girl relationships," the spokesman added.

Metzdorf Gives More Reasons For Golf Course

Spurred by the remarks of Harry Paisley, president of the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment House association that "Palm Springs need a municipal golf course and that its entire economy is dependent upon tourist travel," Dewey Metzendorf, vice president of Western Hotels and manager of the Oasis Hotel this week staunchly agreed and said: "Allow me to cite the following case. The other day I received a letter from an annual guest of the Oasis Hotel from Ojai Valley. He asked that his mail be forwarded to him. When asked what day he and his party were to be expected in Palm Springs the reply was indefinite."

"We are not coming down to Palm Springs," Metzendorf reported the gentleman said. "We can play golf here anytime we want to and it's almost impossible to get on a course in Palm Springs."

Metzendorf went on to say that in addition to crowded conditions on existing golf courses here, the cost of playing was almost prohibitive.

"As a result," Metzendorf continued, "Palm Springs has lost 12 people who have been coming to Palm Springs for a long time. Furthermore, I know that many of our guests at the hotel who come down hoping to get a game of golf in during their stay here never take the golf bag out of the trunk of the automobile."

Paisley urged the members of the association to get behind the move to bring about the creation of a municipal golf course.

"Haven't seen a dog like that in years."

Palm Springs Area Tops County's Unincorporated Areas in Building

Palm Springs area topped the county in building operations in unincorporated territory in October. C. G. Bixel, chief county building inspector, reported this week.

In the Palm Springs school district, outside of the city limits, the total in new construction was $834,081. This figure includes just the area within the confines of the school district and does not include unincorporated area outside of the district but which is linked with Palm Springs economically and socially such as Palm Desert.

Coupled with the $1,039,600 figure on construction within the city limits during October, the total for the school district neared the $2 million mark for the month—$1,893,681.

In the entire county, building activity in October in unincorporated areas and under Bixel's jurisdiction totaled $3,909,487. This brought the total for building outside of cities for the first 10 months of the year to $30,162,472, a lead of

SAM SEZ:

THIS I BELIEVE: "A person who puts party above country is a traitor to his country. A candidate who bases his plea for power by needlessly alarming people is adopting the cheapest tricks known to advertising and is ill advised. A candidate who pours contempt on a man who jailed the highest placed Communist that ever counseled an American President does not show the common virtue of gratitude. That's why I'm voting for Eisenhower, Nixon and Jacqueline Cochran Odom. I like facts—not confusion, trickery, and foolish alarms. I like to see truth, dignity and character in high places. In this administration of peace-time prosperity are you able to take advantage of any of these opportunities?"

FIRST SALE FOR Elsworth Imported Cars was completed today when Miles Bates of Palm Desert purchased an O.S.C.A. from Bill Elsworth. The above picture shows Elsworth turning the car over to the new owner. The O.S.C.A., which will race in the Palm Springs Road Races this weekend will be driven by Ed Krietz, famous sports car racer. The car, reportedly worth $10,000, sold for approximately $8,500. Racing enthusiasts say that the O.S.C.A. is one of the fastest cars in its class and this one has a good chance of taking the championship. (Desert Sun Photo)

Desert Sun, KDES Offer Vote Returns

Staff of The Desert Sun and Radio Station KDES will be on duty all night Nov. 6, to handle the tabulation of the Presidential election. In coordination with the Palm Springs election return center, the two new staffs will have a telephone system set up for the convenience of local residents in securing the latest election returns. The Desert Sun will hit the street with an Election Extra at 7:30 Wednesday morning, with complete unofficial returns by precincts and candidates, latest news on the propositions, and a tabulation of the Desert Hospital Directors' election.

Radio Station KDES will be on the air at 6:45 Wednesday morning with election stories.

The combined facilities of The Desert Sun and KDES will include two United Press news wires open into the editorial offices all night election night, a direct line to Riverside County Court House for tabulation of County candidates, and local returns will be tabulated at the election return center in The Desert Sun building as the precincts report.

Telephone lines will be open 24-hours into The Desert Sun and KDES to answer any inquiries into the trend of the election. Telephone numbers to call are Palm Springs 5005 or 9668.

Latest Styles In Bulletproof Vests Reported

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—What's new in bullet-proof vests this season? We thought you'd be asking that. Well, there's one major style change. The trend is to slipovers.

You can get a V-neck if you want, but it has to be made to order. The prevailing neckline style is high and round. Snug fitting, you might say. If you want to camouflage the garment, you really need a dicker.

Materials are trending to special alloy steels, with attractive nylon exteriors. Pockets are out.

THERE ARE TWO basic styles. One is very light, eight or nine pounds, for wear against anything up to and including a Colt .45 automatic. The other is heavier, starting at 12 pounds and getting weightier according to the size of the wearer. It will stop the bullets of the heavy, hard-hitting guns.

This information is from Bern and Spooner, and he ought to know. He's been making bullet-proof vests for 35 years. Some of the best dressed gangsters of the early 1920's wore his creations. Now most of his business is with policy departments.

The slipover type which Spooner now is manufacturing replaces the button-front style of other years. It has some hooks which you can see to open it, but Spooner recommends pulling it over the head, which "takes only two seconds."

IN THE OLD DAYS Spooner put four pockets in his bullet-proofers, just like a regular vest. Also, for some of the fancier dressers, he put on paleps and used fabrics to match their suits. Nowadays pockets are not necessary, he said. "If you make them, you make them on the inside, so they can't be seen."

One of the big developments in the field is a special alloy steel, which is tough and cannot become magnetized. The non-magnetic feature makes the vest safe for pilots to wear amidst a maze of instruments that could be thrown away by a magnetic field.

Travelodge Corporation Holds 6th Conference in Village, 150 Attend

The Travelodge Corporation, the largest chain of motels in the World, enjoyed their sixth conference at Palm Springs, this week, which started with a get-acquainted party at the Oasis Hotel — headquarters for the convention. One hundred and fifty were present.

The Travelodge Corporation was represented by the founder and president, Scott King; vice presidents, Richard King, William Hirsch and Robert Lutes; and William Clark, secretary-treasurer.

Each of the 60 Travelodge Motels now in operation are half owned by the managing-partners, practically all of whom were present to enjoy not only a successful business meeting, but the beauties of Palm Springs as well.

Frank Been, managing-partner of the Santa Ana Travelodge, was chairman of the conference, and Charles Boatman, managing-partner of the Encino Travelodge, was co-chairman.

Many of the original managing-partners were surprised at the tremendous expansion plans now being developed by this fast growing Travelodge Corporation, which include new Travelodges soon to open in Phoenix, Tempe and Williams, Ariz.; Seattle, Wash.; Portland and other Oregon locations; Salt Lake City, Utah; Denver, Colo.; Wichita, Kansas; Memphis, Tenn.; Toledo, Ohio; Orlando, Fla.; and one in Tijuana, Mexico.

One of the early arrivals for the conference was Les "Sleepy" Sears who brought the internationally copyrighted symbol of the "Sleepy Bear" to life, and he visited Palm Canyon Drive last Saturday where he delighted many Palm Springs Children by shaking hands with them.

Dilworth Points to Record This Year In Final Appeal for Reelection Nov. 6

Expenditure of 88 million dollars of state funds in Riverside county during the current year has been pointed out by State Senator Nelson Dilworth who is making his final appeal to the voters in his campaign for reelection to the State Senate.

These state funds will go for district school salaries, buildings and salaries at the University of California at Riverside, state and county highways, city streets, assistance to the aged and child aid, levees to protect homes from floods and numerous other benefits to the county.

"This is the best budget we have ever been able to obtain for state expenditures in this county," Senator Dilworth said.

The Senator is chairman of a sub-committee of the influential Senate Finance committee which has as its chief function all budget matters. "Riverside county needs

Election Night TV Party Set

Palm Springs Community Television has announced plans for an election night TV party, to be held at their business offices at 192 South Indian Avenue. The party will start at 7 p.m., and the firm will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Ken Wallace, sales manager for the firm, said that there would be sufficient seating for spectators and everyone was invited to attend.

Texas produced 1,038,720,000 barrels of crude oil in 1955.

Bill Elsworth Imported Cars Formal Opening is Scheduled for Tonight

The desert area's newest sports car display room will open to the public tonight, during the first Palm Springs National Championship Road Races.

Bill Elsworth Imported Cars, 68-573 Broadway, Cathedral City, will make its debut to the public at 7 p.m. Giant klieg-lights will mark the location of the new display room, and the Modernaires, Johnny Carson and the New Yorkers will furnish the entertainment. A pre-opening cocktail party, by invitation only, will precede the opening ceremonies.

With the sale of imported cars including the Mercedes Benz, O.S.C.A., Triumph TR3, Borgward, Slata, and Ferrari, the new outlet will also specialize in automotive service to sports cars.

HEAD OF THE NEW company is Bill Elsworth, well known in racing circles and among sports car enthusiasts. He and his wife, Primrose, won the 1956 Palm Springs Concur d'Elegance with their 1955 Rolls Royce, Silver Dawn. Elsworth is also a avid boat enthusiast, and this year won first place at the Lake Mead Boat Races driving a 17-foot Higgins. V-bottom, air interceptor engine boat.

Before the war he raced sports cars, and at that time the MG was the big name in sports car racing. He has owned several sports cars, among them the famous Diamler. Aside from his interest in the sport car field, he is president of the J. J. Elsworth Oyster Company, owned by his family for nearly a hundred years.

GENERAL MANAGER for the new firm is Earle P. Grace, formerly in Palm Springs with Nick Pastor Imported Cars. Grace has been in the automobile business for almost 30 years, and during part of the time he was connected with the fight business. During the years he was in the service, Grace was a coach for the Army Boxing Team.

He is married, and his wife, Blanche, will help in the new firm's office.

The third member of the team is English born Gil Wright, who as a young man came to this country and went to work for Rolls Royce in Detroit. He became highly interested in sports cars, and took care of many of the big time winner's cars.

During the war he served with the United States Marines, and after his discharge he worked for Consolidated Vultee and Lockheed Aircraft.

Wright, who is known as the foremost authority on the running of sports cars and intricacies of the sports car engine, will head the service department of the new agency.

Sale's Market Reports Record Sale to Continue

ARTHUR BRYANT
VICE PRESIDENT

It was a happy but extremely fatigued staff who wearily closed the doors of Sale's Market here last night.

Before the doors opened Thursday morning marking the formal opening of the new Sale's Market, people were already lined up waiting to purchase staple foods and meats, Glen Brown, manager, reported.

"And," Brown announced, "the same values and the same formal opening sale will continue until next Wednesday night."

Harold Lewin, owner of the meat department in the establishment, announced that his meat supply Thursday was so depleted before the end of business that day, an emergency truck load of Manning's beef was rushed from Los Angeles.

ARTHUR BRYANT, vice president of Sale Market, Inc., said: "Sales far exceeded our expectations and without a doubt broke all records for this store past and present. And the rush seems unabated today."

Jimmy Sale, president of the corporation, in Palm Springs for the opening from Malibu, had the following to say:

"We are more than pleased with the response to our sale offering. We are also pleased with the efficient and courteous manner in which the staff handled the patrons. Most importantly of all was the ample parking facilities available to the patrons of our establishment here."

"We wish to assure everybody that stocks are being quickly replenished and the many items on sale will continue to sell at the same price until the close of business next Wednesday."

IT WAS LEARNED that Jimmy Sale had to make a fast trip to Riverside to purchase some items that were quickly depleted by the many shoppers.

"The sale on the first day and it looks like it is going to continue," said Brown, "has by far exceeded all of our expectations. I must thank everybody associated with us here for the tremendous effort they displayed in taking care of the avalanche of sales. Don't forget," Brown reminded, "we have nearly all next week in which this sale continues."

GLEN BROWN
MANAGER

SALE'S MARKET, newest supermarket for the shopping housewife, will continue with its record breaking sale through next Wednesday. The market was opened Thursday morning, and hundreds of visitors and Villagers came into the store to glimpse and purchase the specials listed in The Desert Sun. Along with the normal grocery items of the store, Sale's Market also displays a complete liquor department, fresh produce, and a complete bakery department. (Desert Sun Photo)

Fox Leases 78 Movies to TV

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — The 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., has announced the licensing of 78 feature-length motion pictures for showing on television.

Spyros P. Skouras, president of 20th-Century-Fox disclosed that the company would receive $3,850,000 and 50 percent of the stock of National Telefilm Associates for a five-year license to use the movies filmed prior to 1948.

No Paving

WEST MIFFLIN, Pa., (AP) — The borough council, usually besieged by citizens seeking paved streets, was pleasantly surprised when Fercale Todd requested that the council promise it wouldn't pave the street in front of his new home. Todd explained that he couldn't get financing for his house unless the council made the promise.

SUPPORT EISENHOWER AND NIXON--

And The Rest Of The Team, TOO

"Peace, prosperity and progress" are hallmarks of a great American administration.

"The Eisenhower-Nixon team has restored dignity to the White House, re-established our respect abroad, and produced the most jobs and the highest pay for our millions of families in all American history!

Give this great team another four years — it will complete its vast program designed to broaden the base of happiness and contentment for every family.

But Eisenhower and Nixon can't do it alone —

They must have a friendly, cooperative Congress

To carry forward this tremendous program.

DON'T TIE THE PRESIDENT'S HANDS WITH A HOSTILE CONGRESS!

Ike Needs Kuchel and Odlum at Washington

U.S. SENATOR THOMAS H. KUCHEL, SEEKING REELECTION TO THE
U.S. SENATE FROM CALIFORNIA

As the Junior Senator from California he has established a record for fair, honest and effective legislation hardly with a parallel. He is known in Washington as "one of our hardest working Senators."

He has the broad support of ALL GROUPS OF PEOPLE — both Republicans and Democrats, and the whole-hearted backing of numerous leading California unions.

He has authored and obtained action on more water legislation than any other senator from any state in the Union.

Supported Old Age benefits, backed higher pay to postal workers, helped small business, author of bill for Federal aid to schools, sponsored more than 20 irrigation, reclamation and flood control projects in California.

Says President Eisenhower:

"... Our American system of government operates most effectively when the executive and legislative branches are operated by the same political party. First, it fixes responsibility for the legislative program of the administration. Second, it enables the administration to enact into law those measures which it believes are right and necessary for the country."

That is why he asks you as an American voter to return to office U.S. SENATOR THOMAS H. KUCHEL and to elect as the 29th District representative in Congress, JACQUELINE COCHRAN ODLUM.

If you are going to give President Eisenhower your vote of confidence, back him all the way ... follow his judgment ... respond to his request!

JACQUELINE COCHRAN ODLUM,
CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS;

farmer, business woman, world-famed aviation expert. Through great personal initiative and energy she rose from a poverty-stricken orphan to become one of America's foremost women. But she has retained her human touch and warmth of heart for ALL PEOPLE, equipping her to best represent this district in Washington.

Read What President Eisenhower Says in a Letter to Her: "Dear Jacqueline,

I am delighted that you are running for Congress. Your war service was outstanding. The initiative you showed then, backed by your knowledge of our nation's domestic and international concerns will be valued in the Congress—as I mentioned to you on several occasions. That you have come up the hard way is also good, for it will keep you warmly responsive to the human problems of our people throughout your public service.

I look forward to your coming to Washington, once again vigorously advancing our country's good as you did during the War.

Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower."

STATE PROPOSITIONS

Every voter should study the 19 State Propositions before going to the polls next Tuesday. It is extremely difficult to know much about the proposals from the brief description on the ballot. A "No" vote is not a safe one just because you don't understand the proposal; you might be voting just opposite to the way you would if you knew more about it.

In order to assist voters of Palm Springs in making up their minds how they want to vote on these matters, The Desert Sun gives below a brief explanation of each one and adds the recommendation of this newspaper—(except for No. 4).

1. STATE BOND ISSUE authorizing $500,000,000 for LOANS TO VETERANS for home and farm purchases. We have dealt with the three bond issues separately in this column, and recommended passage of all of them. No. 1 continues a program of loans to the state's veterans started in 1921. Recommended vote.....YES.

2. STATE BOND ISSUE for SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION, authorizing $100,000,000 for loans and grants to school districts for construction and equipment. Continues building program started in 1947-48 and added to in 1949, '51 and '53. The only serious opposition comes from those who feel that any state-aid program of a transitory nature runs the risk of excess domination by the State of local school issues. There's no question as to the need for additional school facilities. Recommended vote.....YES.

3. STATE BOND ISSUE, authorizing $200,000,000 for new STATE BUILDINGS, $60 million of which must be used for State colleges. This bond issue received endorsements of most state-wide organizations. It will provide needed facilities for several institutions in Riverside county. Opponents take the position that if additional facilities are needed now the necessary costs should be faced realistically and met out of current revenues. Recommended vote.....YES.

4. OIL AND GAS WELL REGULATING MEASURE, known as "Oil and Gas Conservation." This is an INITIATIVE measure which if adopted cannot be amended by the Legislature; any changes must be again submitted to the voters. It is perhaps the longest and most complicated proposal ever submitted to the people of California. More than $3,000,000 has been spent by advocates and opponents to inform and influence voters. Probably not one voter in a thousand will read it all, and unless he knows the oil production business, will still be somewhat in the dark. It sets up a State Commission to regulate oil production.

PROPOSERS state: It is essential that waste of oil in California be prevented by use of proper methods of secondary recovery. This can be accomplished only under the "unit" operation of each reservoir. The new Commission would be empowered to force the unit operation with 75 percent agreement. California cannot produce enough oil for its own needs. Under the circumstances it seems the height of negligence to practice recovery methods, as at present which result in only 25 percent of an oil reserve being brought to the surface.

OPPONENTS say: The constitutional amendment is "control" rather than conservation. They point out that similar legislation was rejected by the voters in 1931 and 1939. Voluntary co-operating units have worked successfully in California and conservation is already being practiced under laws adopted in 1915, 1929 and 1955. If the state finds it lacks necessary powers of regulation under the Proposition it must wait for a vote of the people. Proposition 4 would eliminate competition and cause a loss of jobs. It is undemocratic.

There has been a lot of information put out on this proposition but the ultimate effect of its adoption is difficult for the average person to foresee. It would be better not to vote on the measure at all than to take a guess at it..... NO RECOMMENDATION.

5. SERVING ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES — Repeals requirement that food be served where alcoholic beverages are served, and provides for the issuance of licenses for the four types of premises, in which only the alcoholic beverage specified in the license may be sold and served for consumption on the premises. The measure prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages to persons under 21 — and also the purchase of alcoholic beverages by persons under 21. These same prohibitions have been in force in California for many years.

Even though some places where liquor is served make only a pretense of serving food — most places do. There is quite a lot of doubt in many people's minds if this measure will help much to improve present laws. Opponents say that the proposition would bring back the old-time saloon, but advocates claim that present day regulations prevent the operation of a place like the saloon. Recommended vote.....NO.

6. EXEMPT CHURCH PARKING LOTS FROM TAXATION — whether or not the land is adjacent to the land on which the church stands. The provision is only extending the present exemption, so is not adopting a new policy. It is badly worded and not badly needed, however. Recommended vote.....NO.

7. CHANGE NAME OF STATE ASSEMBLY to House of Representatives. Well, what name do you like best? We still think the present plan is best because it makes it easier to distinguish between our national and state representatives. Not a very important one; we recommend vote.....NO.

8. LEGISLATIVE BUDGET SESSION — Permits the State Legislature to take a recess of not over 30 days after the introduction of the budget bill. Most of the legislators themselves seem to think this is a good provision — we go along with them and recommend.....YES.

9. BOROUGH FORM OF COUNTY GOVERNMENT. This proposal is directed to the problem of thickly settled unincorporated territory near a big city. It would enable fringe areas to set up subdivisions of county government, called boroughs. It is limited to charter counties and is permissive.

A careful study of this proposed legislation shows that it is vague and inconsistent, that it is wrong in principle and would not likely solve the problem it was designed to relieve. This is opposed by most taxpayer groups in the state. Recommended vote.....NO.

10. STATE CIVIL SERVICE CONTRACTORS, ARCHITECTS AND ENGINEERS — is an economy measure that will allow the Legislature to enact proper legislation to hire part-time architects and engineers to meet peak loads that the regular staff cannot handle. A good provision. Recommended vote.....YES.

11. FRAMING COUNTY CHARTERS — allows one year instead of six months for drafting a charter. No harm in granting the additional time. Recommended vote.....YES.

12. STATE INDEBTEDNESS — This proposal includes a bad provision that repeals the present requirement of giving notice of a proposed state bond issue. Notice must now be published for three months prior to an election. This measure would give notice only in the pamphlet mailed along with the ballot. The method is not adequate. Other provisions reducing period from 75 to 50 years over which bond issues can be spread, and the part which permits the Legislature to reduce amount of bond issues, are good. Recommendation.....NO.

13. REPEAL ALIEN LAND LAW — The purpose of which is to remove from the statute books a dead-letter law which is characterized as inoperative, obsolete and unconstitutional. Recommendation.....YES.

14. LEGISLATIVE EMPLOYEES — Removes the present limitation on Legislature expenses now set at $300 a day for regular sessions and $200 a day for special sessions. While the present limitation was set in 1924 and is far too low, this proposition gives the Legislature a blank check, to which there is some objection. The provision will, however, enable the Legislature to obtain adequate staffs and will permit these employees to participate in pay programs similar to other state employees. Recommendation.....YES.

15. PUBLIC WATER SUPPLIES: MUTUAL WATER COMPANIES. This will permit the state and political subdivisions to acquire and hold stock in a mutual water company, for the purpose of furnishing water for public use. The amendment is permissive and is necessary to eliminate discriminatory provisions against certain classes of cities and other governmental agencies which prevent them from acquiring such stock. A good measure. Recommendation.....YES.

16. CIVIL AND CRIMINAL APPEALS. This proposition does away with time limits now fixed in the Constitution and substitutes a system whereby the Judicial Council would adopt rules governing the time within which appellate decisions become final — and, as a result, the time within which the Supreme Court would be able to grant a hearing after a district court of appeals hearing. A good provision. Vote.....YES.

17. PROVISIONS RELATING TO JUDICIARY — Removes a section in the Constitution which through a court decision has been found to have no effect whatsoever. You're safe in voting for this one.....vote.....YES.

18. INFERIOR COURT JUDGES — The constitutional provision now in effect requires that a judge of a California court be an attorney, but contains an exemption known as the "Grandfather Clause" under which several justices of the peace became municipal judges. To qualify, the non-lawyer judge or justice must have served since Nov. 1945 as the presiding officer of an existing court thereafter superseded by the municipal court to which he aspires. The question to be decided here is whether judges should be educated in the law or required to have no legal background? The preponderance of opinion is that they should. Recommendation.....NO.

19. STATE BOUNDARIES. Authorizes the State Legislature to cooperate with properly constituted authorities of any adjoining state to define state boundaries—with the approval of Congress. Groups which have studied this arrangement for fixing boundaries have given it their unqualified approval. Recommendation.....YES.

VIVA LA SIESTA

(From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Down in Old Mexico politics can get lusty, but no more impassioned than its oratory. Nor as endless! The Latin on the stump can be thespian and troubadour, firebrand and poet in a marathon of rhetoric. For instance, upon the recent conveying of the Mexican Congress, President Cortines delivered a report on the state of the nation for three and a half hours. That was par, of and for the course.

Then came the traditional response of Congress, made by one Rafael Corrales Ayala, a bright and rising young orator who did not sit for 30 minutes. So a few heavy-lidded Senators started a bloodless insurrection. They shot a bill into the hopper to limit Congress' reply to 85 words, substance of which would be that members had listened to the Senor President and each "would patriotically promise to meditate the contents."

In Mexico, too, oratory's best friend is the orator. Political forensics were eating into siesta time. With the Nort' Americanos in the clutch of their own long-distance stump race, Yank lectern-pounders could learn a thing from conferees south of the border. A viva for la siesta! A viva for platform brevity. The voter's nod comes not from the nodding voter.

RECEIVED TWO SLOGANS this week. One was from George LaFayette who said he saw this sign in a hotel:

"Don't smoke in bed. The ash on the floor may be your own."

More seriously speaking, however, Mrs. William Lippman brought in one of her own composition which, because it has an important bearing on next Tuesday, I especially timely:

Said Mrs. Lippman: "Get out and vote! Then the country we save will be our own."

'You Think He's Stopped Growing, Nikolai?'

THIS SIDE

By Phat

When you think of the load that Ike and Dick tote, The least you can do is to get out and vote.

Heard a fellow explain it this way the other day—if you don't go to the polls and register your choice of officials and the many propositions on the ballot, come next Tuesday, you will be giving the side you probably don't like, two votes.

Said it was like this. Your vote would have cancelled out one of the other side's votes. So they not only get that vote for free but also an added one because you didn't vote.

Don't quite get it but the fellow who told me has a reputation for being pretty astute.

PALM SPRINGS gets around in the news, so say Bert and Rene Mennell of the candy Mennells. While touring in Mexico they met a Louisiana businessman, A. F. Maxfield of Lake Charles.

This week they received a letter from Maxfield, enclosing a clipping from the Lake Charles Press.

Topped by big headlines was a story dated Palm Springs, "Pool Capital is Having Trouble."

The story, sent out by Associated Press, after setting forth that Palm Springs leads the nation in pools per capita, listed three stories about pools which "broke" here in the past few months.

FIRST, that story about Red Kenyon who got himself a citation for moving a used pool down the street, thereby blocking traffic.

Next, that story of some time ago when an enterprising burglar dove into a home via a pool which was half outside and half in the living room.

Finally, that story about the home owner who came back from his vacation to find that someone had stolen his 15-foot pool.

THANKSGIVING DAY. This year falls on November 22. And don't let anyone argue you out of that. Following the confusion of some years ago when the late FDR tinkered with the calendar, Congress officially established Thanksgiving Day as the fourth Thursday each November.

And it so happens that November has five Thursdays this year causing some people to mix up the date. Even some calendar makers were confused and printed November 29 in the red ink reserved for holidays.

The Sun has received telephone calls because some people had the calendars with the 29th marked in red and wanted to argue it out with the November 22 people.

The day of the Big Feast is November 22. Don't miss it.

INEZ ROBB:

Federal Economy a Shudder Word

A week from today it will be all over, including the shouting. Especially, let us hope, the shouting. A little peace and quiet would go a long way toward curing anything that ails a lot of us.

Although, truth to tell, this is one citizen who isn't going to need any of these new tranquilizing drugs to get her back on the track of post-election normalcy. This is a campaign that has left my fingernails intact and my blood pressure normal.

During the next seven days, some political spark may ignite my hair and my temper, but on the whole it has been a real dull campaign. This is largely because it is pretty difficult today to tell one major party from the other without a scorecard.

THE MIDDLE OF the road is so crowded by Americans of all kinds, size, shapes, colors and creeds that you can't see the white line for the people. It makes it easy to sum up the 1956 campaign in one sentence. Each candidate has simply promised that his party can do it better than the other fellow's, and that goes for the hydrogen bomb, foreign affairs, domestic policy and Elvis Presley.

Through all the glorious promises of four-day work weeks and an old age of riotous bliss, my ears have been cocked in vain to hear any candidate come out four-square on economy in government. It is possible that some candidate may have made a pass at the national debt while I was nodding, because I have nodded easy in this campaign.

BUT I HAVE not heard any promise or program to squeeze the water out of the cost of government and/or the application of such savings to the national debt.

If we citizens are head-over-heels in debt to the installment collector for everything we "own," including the clothes on our respective backs, our government has set the example. Uncle Sam is in hock for around $280,000,000,000. I sure wish it were hay.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"What do you mean I don't need a new outfit to wear election day, Roscoe? I'm not one to take my right to vote lightly!..."

BILL RASHALL

Unedited

It always happens during the winter season for some reason or the other — the paving of streets.

Right now Sunrise Way is blocked off to vehicular travel almost from one end to the other. And those streets not now constructed (they're unpaved) for such heavy traffic are being torn to pieces.

But Frank Hamerslag, our city engineer, comes up with a good reason. He says that the California Highway Commission operating on a fiscal year never allocates money until sometime in July. And besides, there were some unavoidable delays in starting the work.

And that isn't all either. He said that we will have to put up with this inconvenience until almost Christmas. Oh, me. Then on top of all this woe, today and tomorrow the sports car enthusiasts will be flocking into town and the roar of their exhausts outside the window of normally quiet neighborhoods is going to be something. We'll just have to grin and bear it, I'm told.

IT HAPPENS everywhere and even in our home town. In the many service clubs marital mix-ups sometime occur. In one club three of its ardent supporters who never failed to attend meetings, missed them only on rare occasions, seldom show up any more. I know that their membership dues are paid but there's "that feeling" when these men might meet at the regular luncheons.

Talking about divorce, my ear was bent the other night by an ex-wife who highlighted her remarks with one succinct statement: "If I was confronted with the same situation today I would not have chosen the route I followed."

She chose that route which led to the divorce mill. A little thinking, a little understanding on the part of both husband and wife and today the chances are they would still be together.

Let's call the lady who told her story Mrs. J. They had been married for almost 20 years, she said. During all of that time she was in every sense the good housewife. Had her husband's meals on time. Looked after his buttons. She had her friends and neighbors with whom she talked over the backyard fence. And then there were the children. A boy and girl. Her whole life centered about them, and in their teen ages they soon started traveling with their own companions. She was a busy little bee with life in her home.

SHE WENT ON to say that during this time her husband was climbing up the ladder of success. His nose to the grindstone. He soon began to miss dinners at home. He would stay out late. And when he did make it a point to spend a night at home it soon became quite evident that they were living in the same house but actually world's apart in thoughts and interests.

"I never realized," Mrs. J. said, "how far apart we were until on occasion we would both go out together. He was constantly talking to people whom I never knew existed in his life. He introduced me to women too who called him by his first name as if they knew him all his life."

"I believe," she continued, "that's where I lost my husband. I was so wrapped up in my house, my little domestic world, I had not time to take an interest in what was happening in the world in which my husband traveled."

Inevitably, and she admitted this, his interest in his home waned to a point where "he just took me for granted like a piece of furniture in the living room."

THEN ALONG CAME the third party, (this is the closing chapter) "He would stay out late at night," the ex-Mrs. J. recalled. "Pretty soon I started hearing stories about him and that other woman. And then I started feeling sorry for myself. My pride hurt. I had worked so hard to make a decent home for him. These were my thoughts."

"Instead, I should have asked about the world in which he traveled. I should have taken a deeper interest in his work. By doing so he might have become interested in my world and both of our spheres would have been a part of each other's."

"Instead I chose the path that led to the divorce courts. And here I am. My children away in school and me — well I walk from room to room in that big house of mine listening to the hollow words of my own voice."

EARL WILSON:

Admits He's Been Peeking

NEW YORK—So relax a little already! Julie Andrews, star of "My Fair Lady," will appear in CBS's original version of "Cinderella" by Rodgers & Hammerstein, Sunday, Mar. 31, 1957, giving Ed Sullivan a night off.

Kim Novak takes nude sun baths on her Hollywood rooftop and I KNOW!

"The Godfrey Losers Club" will break bread and maybe some heads, too, Nov. 20 at the Little Club. Includes Dick Shawn, prez; Tony Bennett, Wally Cox, Gisele MacKenzie, Edith Adams and Mary McCarthy, all of whom flunked their auditions. Arthur's been asked to address 'em.

Serge Rubinstein's mother and a battery of lawyers flocked to see the RKO sneak screening of "Death of a Scoundrel" and left huffily before the big heart-tearing scene when Mother casts the son off. RKO probably wouldn't mind a suit. Good publicity nowadays.

"SPARE THE ROD and your son may soon be carrying one," warns the Rev. Tennyson Guyer. Rita Gam and husband Tom Guinzburg bought the Joyce Matthews-Billy Rose apt. for $300,000. The battling Tommy Dorsey both want the Greenwich, Conn., house. Dig this I'm invited to the Grand Opening of the Rocky Marciano Room of America's Restaurant, 951 Lexington, Sunday, Nov. 4, at 3 p.m. If guests don't show, we understand Rocky'll come and persuade 'em.

Hank Greenberg and Lou Marx were having an animated discussion outside the Waldorf Towers—about Leo Durocher going to Cleveland, maybe? Rita Hayworth's lawyer, Bart Crum, flew to Paris to try to collect some racehorses, paintings and a Paris house from Ali Khan. Rita now wants 'em put in the name of her dr., Princess Jasmine. Where'd I read this? "Her! She's old enough to be his wife!"

Julius La Rosa, visiting Tulsa, asked, "Where are the Indians?" Mrs. J. C. Clendenin of Tulsa writes me, "I had a notion to invite him out, but was afraid he'd faint when he saw the wall-to-wall carpet in my wigwam."

LIZ TAYLOR's ex-to-be, Mike Wilding's, been around with Peggy Connolly, Frank Sinatra's protégé. Marlene Dietrich and Jacques Salries, the art dealer, oozed through the Vanderbilt Purple Tree Room. Marlene's limbs seem to be just right in that kind of a tree.

Pretty Mary Costa, hostess of "Climax" and "Shower of Stars," told me her husband, Director Frank Tashlin, has found the way to get the movies to accept "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" which is a rap at the movies. "He's brilliantly changed it around," she explained, "so it's a rap at television."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Fred Allen's "Much Ado About Me" bears the simple but tender dedication, "Again, to Portland." The ABC "Crossroads" TV show which gained in the Trendex Friday night while its two competitors were losing points, is an all-faith show, "sort of a 'Medic' by ministers'." Is Jack Dempsey hankering to sell out his share of the restaurant?

Kay Kendall sees Ty Power's picture when she visits Rex Harrison—Rex has Ty's subplot. Pittsburgh Pirates mgr. Bobby Bragan's getting a $5,000 raise. Henny Youngman and singer Lonnie Satin were very, very big at "Town & Country." Buddy Hackett and Max Liebman don't exactly agree on how to fix the "Stanley" show which should have such great possibilities.

Toots Shor's beautiful baby dir. made her first appearance in the restaurant and wouldn't leave Jack Lescouleur's arms. The Casa Marina Hotel, in Key West, was sold to Jack Alpin of NY for around $1,000,000. Sallie Blair who growls so sexily in her show with Billy Vine at the Boulevard, also takes off her shoes at one point; does sort of a stripteases act.

EARL'S PEARLS... Fifty years ago people couldn't talk about sex, says Jerry Warren. Now they can't talk about anything else.

WISH I'D SAID THAT Lew Parker supposes that if Hal March went on the "96.000 Question," his category would be categories.

'Temple of God's Spirit' Named As Sermon Topic

Duplicate morning worship services are held each Sunday morning at 9:30 and 11 a.m. at the Community Church of Palm Springs. This Sunday, Dr. James H. Blackstone, Jr., the pastor, is preaching on "The Temple of God's Spirit," and the Chancel Choir under the direction of Elmer Young and accompanied by Mrs. Lois Lux on the organ will bring the anthem, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain" by Harker.

At 9:30 there are Sunday School classes for all ages from the Cradle Roll Department up to the Adult class which is taught by Frank Carey. This latter class meets in the Woman's Club House directly across the street from the church.

At 11 o'clock there are classes from the Cradle Roll Department up to and including the Junior Department. At this hour the Young Adults Sunday School class meets with James McManus as the teacher. All Young Adults are invited to attend this class.

At 6:15 the High School Christian Endeavor Society is meeting in the church parlor. They will have a program and discussion on "The Christian Going to College." The High School young people are invited to bring questions with them. The Junior High School group meets in the social hall at the same time with Roy Davis in charge. All young people are invited to come and attend either of these meetings.

James McManus, the Director of Young People's Work in the church, will bring the message at the evening service on "Music and The Christian." The Choraleers the Junior Choir will bring the special music. They will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer." A welcome is extended to all to come and take part in the services of the church.

New members will be received at the Communion Service on the first Sunday of December. Classes of instruction are being offered in preparation for church membership. Adults are meeting on Wednesday evening from 7 to 7:30 in the pastor's study.

All Saints' Day To be Observed By Episcopalians

Special music and special decoration in the church will mark the observance of the Sunday within the Octave of All Saints' tomorrow at St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church. A simple celebration of the Holy Communion will be held at 8 a.m., and family service and church school will convene at 9:15 a.m.

The 11 a.m. service will consist of a Choral Eucharist rendered by St. Paul's choir under the direction of Mrs. Alex Hammond. The plain song setting of the Holy Communion contains music from the second century through the fifteenth century. The anthem will be Frederick Candlyn's modern setting of the ancient canticle "Te Deum Laudamus." "Te Deum" has been used for centuries in the church for special festive observances.

All Saints' Day and the week following are considered major festivals of the church, at which time special prayers for the departed are said at all services and special prayers of thanksgiving are offered for God's goodness and his promise of eternal life.

"All Saints' Day is like a small observance of Easter Day in the fall, with the Easter hope applied to each individual life," was the comment made this week by the rector.

The High School Young Peoples Fellowship will meet in the rector's study this evening at 7 for a program of instruction by the rector, including questions and answers between the young people and the minister. A short social hour will be held following the program.

Junior Women's Club Halloween Party is Success

The pot luck supper and Halloween party sponsored by the Cathedral City Junior Women's Club was a big success. The Town Hall was decorated in a Halloween theme.

Thirty-six members and invited guests, with their families, attended. After dinner, the children bobbed for apples, held sack races and played various other games.

Even the adults had fun joining the children in the games. Candy, bubble gum and balloons were given to the children and comic prizes were awarded the adults. Sheila O'Byrne was the winner of the door prize.

Similar activities of this kind are planned for the coming year.

'Adam and Fallen Man' Selected as Sunday Sermon

The Lesson-Sermon "Adam and Fallen Man" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday is headed up by the Golden Text from Hosea (14:1), "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity."

After the accounts of the creation of man in the early chapters of Genesis, there appears the challenge of the voice of God to Adam. The account reads, "And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou? And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, . . . and I hid myself" (Genesis 3:9, 10).

"Above error's awful din, blackness, and chaos, the voice of Truth still calls: 'Adam, where art thou?'" reads a passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. It continues, "Consciousness, where art thou? Art thou dwelling in the belief that mind is in matter, and that evil is mind, or art thou in the living faith that there is and can be but one God, and keeping His commandments?" (p. 307).

New Choir Will Perform Sunday

The newly organized choir of the Palm Desert Community Church will make its first public appearance at the 11 a.m. service Sunday, with its selection to be "Fair-est Lord Jesus."

The Rev. Warren C. McClain will have as his sermon topic, "Our Motive for Missions."

Sunday School is held at both 9:45 and 11 a.m.

The High School Youth Group will meet at 6:30 p.m., Sunday.

Lions Breakfast Group Serves 175

Sunday morning the Cathedral City Lions Club served 175 people at the first of their monthly "Chuck Wagon Breakfasts." Johnny Boyle, popular singer of western songs, entertained. Chairman Ivan Sharp and the committee extend their thanks to all who helped make the affair a success.

The next breakfast will be held Sunday morning, Nov. 17, with Charles McClure as chairman. They will be given each month until the emergency "First Aid" mobile unit is completely equipped.

Turkey Dinner Set for Nov. 8

The women of the parish have been hard at work planning for the fifth annual Turkey Dinner which will be served at St. Louis Parish, Geln and "B" Streets, Cathedral City on Thursday, Nov. 8.

The turkey dinners are now almost as famous as the ham dinners that have been served each March for the past seven years. The help of chefs from some of Palm Springs' finest dining rooms combined with the past experience of the women guarantees a meal even superior to those of past seasons. Over 700 dinners were served last year.

Although it is still early in the fall season, the usual fine attendance is expected.

School Safety Slogan Selected

Safety slogan to be used by students in Palm Springs schools next week will be "Never let small children lean against windshields," according to George Bond, school safety coordinator and superintendent of transportation.

Each week a different slogan is selected, to be repeated by students as they board buses en route to or from school.

In 1955, retailers and packers spent a total of $100,000,000 in meat advertising.
